

A Third Robber's Life to Go.

New York, Feb. 6.—This morning the jury in the case of Albert Mansker, one of the Oliphant train robbers who killed Conductor W. P. McNally, of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern road, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. He is third of the gang to receive such verdict.
