Lovely Social Courtesy at Tampa Bay Hotel For Visitor

One of the largest and most enjoyable card parties of the social season was the one of yesterday given by Mrs. W. E. High and her mother, Mrs. W. E. Jonnard, for their attractive house guest, Mrs. W. A. Jonnard of Savannah, Ga., in the beautiful drawing room of the Tampa Bay hotel.

Mrs. High received her guests wearing a most becoming afternoon gown of sapphire blue lace and georgette over gold cloth, with corsage of American Beauty roses, and her hat a pretty spring model in pastel shades. Mrs. W. A. Jonnard was beautifully attired in a gown of brown lace over silver cloth, with a corsage of orchids, and worn with this, was a becoming afternoon hat in shades of orchid. Mrs. W. E. Jonnard wore a handsome gown of beaded blue canton crepe, with picture hat to harmonize.

The tally cards having been arranged from regular playing cards, were unique, and the consolation prize was most cleverly drawn from the tallies. The first prize consisted of an exquisite set of half-dozen cut crystal and gold goblets, while the second prize was a very handsome lace and linen hand-embroidered luncheon set. The third prize was a half dozen beautiful tea napkins, and the low score prize was an attractive ivory case containing two deck of cards, while the consolation prize was a half dozen hand-made colored linen handkerchiefs. Mrs. Jonnard, the honor guest, was presented with two lovely pairs of lace clocked silk hose.

A pretty courtesy was paid Mrs. Cary A. Hadee of Tallahassee, when she was presented by the hostesses with a box containing four daintly hand-made colored linen handkerchiefs, as a souvenir of the afternoon.

Another most delightful feature of this lovely party was the charming arrangement made for the tea guests coming in at 5 o'clock. In one end of the drawing room was a large picture table, artistically decorated with pink roses and ferns, and surrounded by smaller tables, which were adorned with miniature baskets of sweet peas and candytuft. As the guests arrived they were given "Rose" tea guest cards which were numbered, and after all had been served, they were requested to examine their cards and to the one holding the number corresponding with a number concealed in an envelope placed on the tea table, was given a prize, an exquisite Dresden fruit bowl.

To Mrs. Richardson, of Newbern, N. C., the charming guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Kinser, who was the tea guest of honor, was given two dainty hand-made handkerchiefs.

Delicious refreshments were served at the conclusion of the card game, consisting of chicken salad, sandwiches, olives, saltines, salted nuts, cake and coffee.

Assisting the hostesses in caring for the guests were: Mesdames Addison Logan, Charles McKay, Eugene Knight, James McKay, Curtis Rorebeck, Everett Snow, J. D. Kinser, Victor Hensel, John Murdoch.

Mrs. Jonnard and Mrs. High are most accomplished hostesses, and their cordial hospitality was reflected in every detail of this charming courtesy.

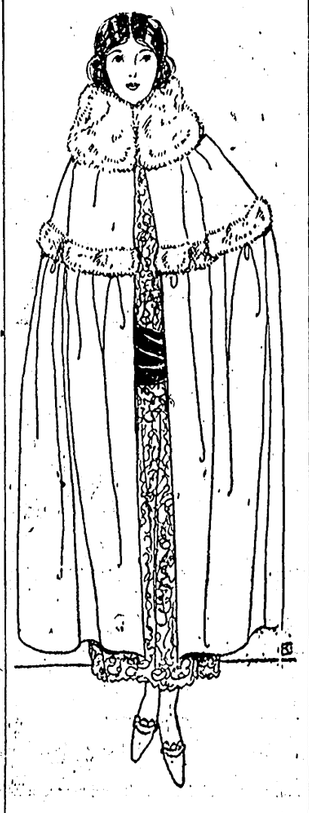
Evening Wrap Simple and Effective



BY MARIE BELMONT

The vogue for wraps which match the evening gown beneath is an expensive, though a most effective one. This wrap was made to wear with a white velvet evening gown. It may be copied, however, in a color which will go with several gowns.

Sheer white chiffon velvet is the medium. It is made with a plain yoke, which joins the gathered part with a deep puff.

Pink charmeuse lines the cape and shows through the velvet, giving the garment a becoming pink cast.

MEDIUM BROWN HAIR looks best of all after a Golden Glint Shampoo. —Adv.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

In Lieu of Starch

Do not use starch when stiffening blouses made of organdie or dimity, but try a weak solution of gum arabic. This will give just the right substance without making it as stiff as starch.

To Prevent Moths

When packing away woolen clothing for any length of time, lay it flat on the floor and run over it with the vacuum cleaner, which will remove all moth eggs or moths.

A Substitute Less Expensive

Suet pudding will be just as tasty and quite as wholesome if, instead of the more expensive suet, half of the quantity used is made up of clean beef or lamb drippings and the remainder in suet.

Sounds Good

Remove the stones from some dates and place blanched almonds in their place. Dip the dates in white of egg and roll in granulated sugar or desiccated cocoanut. Serve intermingled with glaced fruit.

Stains on light Stockings

So many light stockings are worn with dark shoes these days, and some shoes leave ugly dark stains on the feet of the stockings that are difficult to remove. Apply oxalic acid diluted with water in the proportion of half an ounce of acid to a pint of water. Rinse and repeat until the stain is gone.

GOLD DANCE FEATURE AT SULPHUR SPRINGS

Tonight the "gold" dance is the feature of the dance pavilion at Sulphur Springs and $50 in gold will be distributed among the audience as usual, this attraction every Wednesday evening being one of the features of the week at this popular resort.

The Indiana tourists have their picnic today and ample arrangements have been made for their comfort and transportation. Every Hoosier in the city is invited and there will be plenty to entertain at the springs.
