FRANKLIN GIELD, Philadelphia, Nov. 30.—Scoring four touchdowns in a devastating first-half drive, Army's football team sank Navy's grid forces before a capacity crowd of 80,000 here today. The score was 28 to 6.

The two halves of the colorful service clash were as different as day and night. Army, after building up its overwhelming 28-0 lead, was kept continually on the defense in the second half as an aroused Navy attack denied touchdown territory once and threatened on a number of other occasions.

Perhaps the outstanding player on the field, in spite of his team's defeat, was the Navy's backfield ace John Schmidt. It was he who cut loose for so many Navy advances in the second half as to give the Middies 13 first downs in the last 30 minutes—two more than Army registered during the whole fray.

Army's second half let-down was due, to a certain extent, to its lack of protecting a 28-0 lead at the half. On the other hand, however, it is doubtful if any team could have stopped Schmidt's sensational ground-gaining in the second half.

Army's heroes were Grove, Grohs and Little Monk Meyer, but their scoring practices were limited to the early part of the contest. It was purely a defensive battle that Army fought at the finish.

The dynamite of Army's early attack enabled the victorious Cadets to chalk up their institution's biggest margin over a Navy team since 1903. The score of that game, played 32 years ago in Philadelphia, was 40 to 5 in favor of Army.

Grove Runs 80 Yards
Army scored with the game scarcely two minutes old when Ed Grove raced 80 yards along the sidelines to a touchdown.

An exchange of kicks set the stage for Grove's sensational run. Army, losing the toss, kicked off to start the battle. John Schmidt, stellar Navy back, surprised the Cadets with a quick kick from his own 29-yard line, the ball rolling over the Army goal line, a distance of 71 yards from the line of scrimmage. Army took possession on its own 20.

The cheering of Schmidt's punt had hardly subsided when Grove tucked the pigskin under his arm and, aided by excellent blocking, went the entire 80 yards to the touchdown line. He also kicked the extra point, giving the West Pointers a 7-0 lead.

Army's team in general and Grove in particular continued to dominate the play. With the ball on

Army Coach Uses Four Words To Explain Victory Over Navy

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—It took only four words for Lieutenant Gar Davidson, Army's silver-haired young coach, to explain the Cadets' victory over Navy here today.

"We got the breaks," he smiled. "The joyous cries of the happy soldiers rang out through the dressing room as Davidson stood receiving congratulations and giving the players a pat on the shoulders as they passed out to join their companies.

"We got ours quickly and ran up a lead that the Navy, with their fresh men wearing us down, couldn't overcome," Davidson said.

"We realized we could not cope with the Midshipmen in reserve strength and it was just a question of how far we could go and how much damage we could do with our limited personnel. The Navy began pounding over us in the last half, and particularly after Clifford and Erickson, men whom I couldn't adequately replace, were injured, but fortunately our early scoring carried us through," he explained.

"I think we were mighty lucky to win and I want to say that

Crusaders Register All Three Scores in First Period

BOSTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Rolling up all its points in the first 12 minutes of play, Holy Cross rolled out an undefeated season today by hammering out a 20-6 victory over its traditional Jesuit rival, Boston College, before a capacity crowd of 22,000 at Alumni Field.

Tied only by Manhattan, the mighty Crusaders brought their scoring total for the 1935 campaign to 260 points as they crushed a team which had triumphed over Michigan State's rugged eleven.

In 10 games, Holy Cross only has been scored upon by two teams in its biggest margin over a Navy team since 1903. The score of that game, played 32 years ago in Philadelphia, was 40 to 5 in favor of Army.

Morris Runs 70 Yards
Boston College elected to kick-off and on that decision the game may have turned. The kick was downed on the Holy Cross 30-yard line and instantly the Crusaders struck. Morris took the ball on a spinner, zoomed through the Boston frontier, shook off two tacklers and raced 70 yards to a touchdown. Kidd's try for extra point failed.

A few plays later and Holy Cross had a second touchdown. After

During the remaining three periods, the B. C. Eagles not only withstood every Crusader assault, but scored once themselves and threatened on several other occasions. The end of the game found the rival 20-yard zone against a flock of Holy Cross substitutes.

Fist Fight As Tulane Loses, 41-0

L. S. U. Boys Take Electric Shocks and Goal Posts, Too

WIN SEALS LAURELS
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30 (AP)—A free-for-all fight among several thousand students on the playing field climaxed the 41 to 0 victory of the Louisiana State Tigers over the Tulane Green Wave in their annual clash here today before 34,000 spectators.

The fight started over possession of the goal posts, which had been electrically wired by Tulane students to thwart seizure by their enemies, but the Tigers tore away the wires, taking the shocks, and carried away the posts. The battle ended with black eyes and bruised jaws, while the police stood by and let the boys have their fun.

Today's victory made the L. S. U. Tigers undisputed champions of the Southeastern Conference and placed them on the eligible list for either California's Rose Bowl or Louisiana's Sugar Bowl. It was the first time since 1903 that L. S. U. has dominated Southern football.

Tulane Outclassed
The Tigers were complete masters of the Greenies after the first five minutes of the game. In the third quarter, with the score standing 27 to 0, the Greenies visibly wilted, being content to direct their efforts at holding down the score.

At the opening of the fourth quarter, Bernie Moore, Tiger coach, started sending in substitutes and before the game ended he had used every man on the bench.

The game ended with Tulane making desperate passing efforts, but the Tigers kept pounding until the score reached 41 to 0, the largest L. S. U. ever has run up against Tulane since inauguration of the annual game in 1893.

State Bows to 'Ole Miss' By 14-6 As Hapes Boys Star

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Nov. 30 (AP)—The fleet-footed backs of the University of Mississippi today broke through the powerful Mississippi State line that had lowered the colors of the Army and Alabama, and Mississippi defeated the States 14 to 6. An estimated 15,000 fans looked on.

After State had narrowly missed tying the score in the final period with a well-earned touchdown, Ray Hapes dashed 80 yards through a broken field to give Mississippi another touchdown.

Hapes, and his big brother, Clarence, proved the mainstays in Mississippi's victory.

Ole Miss scored a touchdown in the first five minutes of play. Ray Hapes ripped off gains of 15 and 17 yards, and on two powerful thrusts from the six-yard line C. Hapes plunged over for the touchdown. Big Bill Richardson kicked the extra point.

In the fourth period Armstrong, State's ace passer, tossed one from near midfield to Walters on the Ole Miss 18. Ike Pickle slashed off a first down to the eight. Armstrong added five more and Steadman plunged over for the lone Maroon marker. The try for point failed.

Receiving the State kickoff on his own 19-yard line, Hapes cut center, eluded two would-be tacklers at the three-yard line, and outran two State backs to score. Richardson again added the extra point.

Tigers' Inability to Play In Rose Bowl Lamented

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30 (AP)—Professor Hugh Willett, Pacific Coast conference president, today received an apology from Princeton University for recent attacks in The Daily Princetonian on the Rose Bowl game.

The apology, contained in a letter from Burnham H. Dell, director of athletics at Princeton, was accompanied by a wish that Princeton could oppose Stanford in the New Year's Day classic.

It was pointed out, however, that Princeton's participation is impossible because of its agreement with Harvard and Yale not to play post-season games.

Western Maryland Comes from Behind To Win, 14-10

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Western Maryland College, slow to start, but picking up speed like a whirlwind, took to the air today to cut down an evenly Georgetown team in the lead and hand the Hoyas a decisive 14-10 defeat. About 4,000 fans shivered in the stands.

Flashy LeRoy Campbell, Western Maryland halfback, rifled the two passes that accounted for the Greenies' scoring.

Georgetown started early in the first period, when Duff booted a field goal from the Terror 20. Only minutes later, Nolan passed to Gibeau, who ran 30 yards for a touchdown, Duff adding the extra point.

But the Hoyas' scoring punch was gone.

After a punting duel in the second, Western Maryland drove to the invaders' 21, and Campbell passed to Adriance over the goal. Brennan converted.

In the third period Georgetown drove to the Marylanders' 35 but fumbled. A few minutes later Campbell passed to Lassahn from the Georgetown 25 for the final score.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 30 (AP)—An erratic Baylor line that tightened at the right times gave the Bears an upset 8-0 victory over the favored Rice Owls here today before 9,000 fans. The victory enabled Baylor to finish in the top three of the Southwest Conference. A lightning-like rush in the second period gave the invaders the only score they needed. The Bears took a Rice punt on the Owl 43. A pass from Russell to Mankser put the ball on the 20, a fumble lost seven yards, but German flipped a short pass to Lloyd Russell and the quarterback made his way to the six-yard line. Bob Masters carried the ball across. A safety against Rice came on the last play of the game. Russell set the Owls back almost to their goal with a long high punt. With the ball on the six-yard line, the Owls called for a play from spread formation and Ray Smith fumbled the pass from center behind the goal. He recovered, but was unable to run it out.

Daring Pass Play Keeps S. M. U. Team in Unbeaten Class

36,000 SEE BATTLE
FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)—Southern Methodist outwitted Texas Christian with a daring pass play today to win a thrill-packed battle between two undefeated eleven, 20-14, and move up to the gate of California's Rose Bowl.

The game's big moment in the fourth quarter was but one of a succession of big moments that kept 36,000 fans on their feet as the tide of fortune shifted swiftly.

Each team, bulwarked by potential All-American candidates, emptied its bag of tricks and tossed caution to the winds in attaining the 14-14 tie that existed when the Mustangs pulled their surprise.

They were on the T. C. U. 37-yard line. It was fourth down and there were four yards to go. A pass would be a gamble because a disastrous season, Columbia University today kindled a spark of football genius to defeat the powerful and heavily-favored Indians from Dartmouth, 13 to 7, on windswept Baker Field.

The spark was Joe Vollmer, 170-pound right halfback, who turned the picturesque stadium into a bedlam with a sensational 63-yard touchdown run in the fourth period which gave the Lions their most cherished victory of a season which had been marked by four defeats and one tie.

When "Little Joe" broke loose on his history-making dash, the count was knotted 7 to 7. Columbia had scored a touchdown and converted for the extra point early in the first period and Dartmouth duplicated that in the second.

20,000 Cheer Vollmer
About 20,000 fans, huddled in blankets and overcoats to escape a cold wintry blast, rose as a unit to cheer and marvel at Vollmer, the substitute who wrote his name beside Columbia's name on the past.

Vollmer went into the game in place of "Rose Bowl" Al Barabas, the Lion captain, who scored Columbia's first touchdown and kicked the extra point in his last game of a brilliant career. "Little Joe" received the ball from a center and faded back, evidently intending to pass. Seeing no one in the open, he ducked his head and raced for a hole at his own right tackle.

Four green-shirted Dartmouth men grabbed at him, but Joe shook loose and dove through the line. The Dartmouth safety man loomed in front of him, but Joe was not to be stopped now by only one opponent.

With a snake-like movement of his hips, he eluded the last obstacle in his path to gridiron fame.

For the remainder of the game Vollmer kept the crowd in a frenzy with several runs that netted good gains and kept the Indians out of scoring position.

Misses Field Goal Try
The Dartmouth team, which was all-triumphant until it met Princeton a week ago, had a taste of what was coming when the game was only a few minutes old. Columbia passed and slashed its way to the Indians' 13, where Barabas unsuccessfully attempted a field goal.

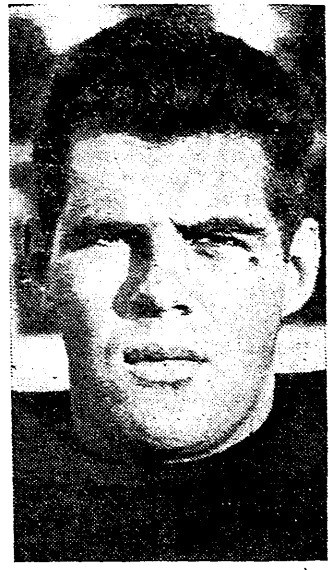

Dartmouth pulled itself out of the hole momentarily, but Columbia was fighting mad and could not be stopped. Taking the ball on the Indians' 40-yard line, Barabas tossed a 13-yard pass to Ed Furey. Two plays later the Columbia captain faded back and Dartmouth's terrific man-power asserted itself in the second period. With Ed Chamberlain leading a withering aerial and ground attack, the Indians soon reared past dirt. Chamberlain made 11 yards to Columbia's 25 on a fake pass. John Handhauer tossed a 19-yard pass to Chamberlain, who was brought down on the Columbia six. Chamberlain then shot a

YALE BOWL, NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 30.—Princeton crushed Yale in their 59th football battle here this afternoon, 38-7. The score frames the most imposing total the Tigers have ever piled up over their ancient foes.

Yet Yale fought stubbornly. It was not until the fourth period that the Blue, having used every artifice and tried every resource, outmanned and outmaneuvered, 10 points behind took counsel of folly and despair and allowed the wily Tiger to turn the affair into a rout.

Some 55,000, ranging from the nation's industrial leaders who made the trip in private cars to hitch-hiking undergraduates with vastly different ideas of decorum, watched the Tigers score their ninth 1935 victory over an unbeaten, untied record.

Posts Fall Before End
And some of these last took the play away from the players as the final minutes of the game were ebbing away. With two minutes to go, Tiger rooters demolished one goal post while some 90 yards down the field their heroes were about to push over the final touchdown.

The spectators then converged on the other end of the field, urging the goal-bound Princetonians on. When Ken Sandbach obliged with a touchdown, they raided these posts and it looked as though Sandbach, whose toe already had accounted for seven Tiger points, this time would have no cross-bar to shoot at.

The posts rocked as the teams lined up for the conversion, but the officials managed to drive the raiders off. Sandbach kicked over this precarious target, and the souvenir hunters captured the ball.

But the Princeton players wanted that precious ball. They had earned it.

So one saw the odd sight of a football team throwing punches, fans, and wrestling with rooters for the ball. Finally big Russell, the guard, emerged from the milling pack with the leather triumphantly held aloft.

Tables Turned
Today's triumph was more than anything a vindication. The goat of last year's game was Sandbach. Today he was the greatest figure on the field, greater even than those other men who this season have made the Orange and Black a truly formidable company.

Last year Sandbach was a half-back. It was he who jumbled that game's opening kick-off, attempting to run it out of the end zone, and being tackled on the goal-line.

Today the Maplewood, N. J., lad did everything—this time in the

Mesco, Tigers' Arch Hater, May Be Clay-Footed 'Hero'

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—Princeton's most assiduous hater was able to grieve at his enemy from an honor seat in the Yale Bowl today despite his admission that it may have been "couple of other guys" that tried to help Dartmouth turn back the Tiger last week.

Revelations that there were two other contenders for the "honor" failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the Yale men, who felt that Mike's terrible hatred of Princeton was a thing to be nurtured and encouraged.

Still a Mystery
Mike was willing enough to concede that he might be a clay-footed hero, and that the man who really "bust" that line against Princeton last Saturday was someone else.
He didn't remember exactly what had happened, he said. All he knew was that his clothing looked as if it had been in a few scrim-
