PROHI OFFICERS TAKE STOCK OF BOOZE RAIDS

ANY "PRISONERS" ARE IN ROOM 315

Small Fortune of Foreign and Domestic Best Brands Uncle Sam's Custody

Bringing back with startling reality, the good old days when a jitney and tin pail would procure at "Pat's Place" around the corner, a nice fat portion of "suday," is what the Federal officers did yesterday afternoon while taking stock of their activities in this and surrounding counties for the past few months.

The government building having been escoted at a time when cellars and saloons would amply take care of the wet goods on hand, and when no drowth was anticipated, the only place Judge Hilburn has to store the multitude of liquor pouring in from the raids of the prohibition officers, is the room with the 'prisoners' sign on the door, room 315. A more appropriate place indeed could not have been chosen. This room is used when Federal court is in session for witnesses and prisoners on trial, but it now houses a young fortune in every variety of American and foreign liquor known, from the rottenest of the sonalt was used when Federal court is in session for witnesses and prisoners on trial, but it now houses a young fortune in every variety of American and foreign liquor known, from the rottenest of the sonalt was used when Federal court is in session for witnesses and prisoners on trial, but it now houses a young fortune in every variety of American and foreign liquor known, from the rottenest of the sonalt was an anost up-to-date used in the largest, London and Madrid hotels.

A list of the liquers on hand in room 315 would be taking too much space in the paper. Suffice it to say that there is enough to start a thriving bar room if somebody would annul the Volstead act.

The color scheme is a beautiful one, all shades of red liquor, pale and smber moonshine, green creme de menthe, and beautiful yellow and brown whisky and bear.

In addition to the several hundred gallons of liquors, there are several moonbear.

NAB ALLEGED MAIL THIEF
B. J. Young, a negro, alleged to have rifled several mail sacks, while acting as helper for the American Railway Express Company, was nabbed Friday by Deputy Marshal Cox, and lodged in jail, in default of bond.
Young, who was a train helper for the express company, is alleged to have entered the mail car, which adjoins the express and baggage car, and to have stolen several registered letters and packages.

Marshal Cox caught him after an all day's vigil at Haines City, waiting for the youth to come to work.

Hig trial will be held during the February term of Federal court. NAB ALLEGED MAIL THIEF

Chiropractic Relieves Stomach and Bowel Trouble

LIMPUS & LIMPUS, Doctors of Chiropractic, 510-512 Curry Bldg.,

When my little granddaughter, Elouise, was about one year old she began having terrible trouble with her stomach, howels and kidneys. She could not eat any solid food at all; every time she did her temperature would get very high and she would go into convulsions. Her bowels were in a frightful condition, and her kidneys were bad, and she would urinate as often as seventeen times in half a day, the urine having pus in it. We had several physicians, but they were unable to do her much good, and finally advised us to take her to Georgia, thinking perhaps the change of climate would help her. Instead, she grew worse until we thought she could not live. 'We were then advised to return home with her, and when we returned last February she weighed just twelve pounds, although she was nearly two years old. Again we tried different physicians, and although during the cool weather she improved some, yet when the warm days came her trouble became worse and we feared she could not live through the summer. We were advised that perhaps the mountains would do her good, but not feeling able to take that trip, I persuaded them to try Chiropractic, because I had been taking Chiropractic Adjustments from you, Dr. Limpus, and had received such marvelous results.

After the first adjustment you gave her her temperature disappeared and it has never returned. After taking adjustments about a week she began cating solid food, her bowels became normal, the pus and frequent urination soon disappeared, and at the end of twelve adjustments she was a perfectly normal child. She is a picture of health now, as this photograph shows, and weighs twenty-six pounds.

We cannot praise Chiropractic enough, Dr. Limpus, for what it has done for little Elouise. We think it is wonderful, and are advising everybody who is suffering to take Chiropractic Adjustments. Yours for Chiropractic,
