A Diamond Thief Captured at Hot Springs

—Hot Springs Races.

Special to The Gazette.

NEWPORT, February 2.—After forty-two hours of weary watching and waiting Judge Butler discharged the jury in the case of Albert Mansker at noon today and ordered the Sheriff to summon a new venire from which to select a new jury to try this important case over again. At 8 o'clock this evening only one man was accepted for the new jury.

The discharged jury stood 10 for murder in the first degree and two for twenty one years in the Penitentiary. THE GAZETTE correspondent learned that the two-murder-in-the-second-degree jurors were not quite sure beyond doubt that the bullet that killed Conductor McNally was fired by some one of the robbers. One of them advanced the ridiculous and improbable theory that the brave conductor who died at his post defending his people from robbery by the bandits shot himself accidentally.

Special to The Gazette.

HOT SPRINGS, February 2.—An officer from Dayton, O., arrived in the city last evening in search of a man by the name of Sanders, who registered at the Park Hotel several days ago. The officer, by the aid of Sheriff Houpt, soon located his man at the Park and arrested and held him until this evening at 3 o'clock when he left with the prisoner on the Cannon Ball. Sanders is charged with a diamond robbery in Dayton.
