Women Bookie Suspects Held

When police vice squad officers seeking a reported "bookie" operation in the Burlingame district, stopped at a door of a building in the 2100 block on Thirtieth St. they were confronted with a notice that announced: "Moved to... But the intended raiders went on inside.

They arrested two women on suspicion of bookmaking. Detective Ed Myrick answered a ringing telephone and a woman on the line seemed to be startled and finally asked, "Is the joint knocked over?" Myrick assured the caller "It's out of business."

Later Myrick said he received a couple of bets by phone. The women arrested, Verda Mae Rice, 34, and Jennie Dolores Kolon, 42, denied knowledge of bookmaking activities. They were released on $250 bail each.

HEALTH TALKS

A favorite and probably successful way to drum up more business when attendance drops below normal is to publish articles in medical magazines or hear-medical publications here and there with interesting pictures of the happy correction of the diagnostic or prognostic mistakes of ordinary doctors by the clinic racketeers.

Unfortunately a few reputable institutions still retain the name of "clinic" legitimately places where non-pay patients are examined and treated in the presence of medical students, usually associated with medical schools.

Double Wedding Planned by Two Sets of Twins

LOS ANGELES, June 24 (AP)—A double wedding in July was in prospect today for two sets of twins who have been double dating for four years. Navy Airmen Third Class Clark and Eddie Garo will become the husbands of Mary and Rose Zvonek on July 27, they announced. The boys were born on Easter, 1932, and the girls on Christmas, 1933.

Few persons visit a latter day "clinic" and get away without paying many times as much as an honest doctor would charge. An honest doctor, if you wonder what I mean, is one who practices under his own name.
