Mrs. Turner Honored.

In observance of the seventy-eighth birthday anniversary of Mrs. J. W. Turner, the members of the Sunday school class called "The Daughters of Wesley" of Central Methodist Church, of which Mrs. Turner is a member, assembled at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sigler, to give her a surprise party. A handsome chair was presented Mrs. Turner as a token of love from the class. Meses. Pressley and Hurdleston bore it into the room, while the presentation speech was made by the class president, Mrs. Thompson, who first led Mrs. Turner to the chair and seated her. A charming response was made by "Mother" Turner as she is affectionately known by the class.

Entering the dining room, the guest of honor found a beautiful potted plant, the gift of Mrs. Ingram, and then discovered a birthday cake surrounded by candles and as the lights were blown out there were many expressions of love for Mrs. Turner. Cream and cake were served the guests.

At the close of the morning a prayer was offered by the pastor, Rev. C. R. Wright. In the afternoon a number of Mrs. Turner's neighbors brought her gifts.
