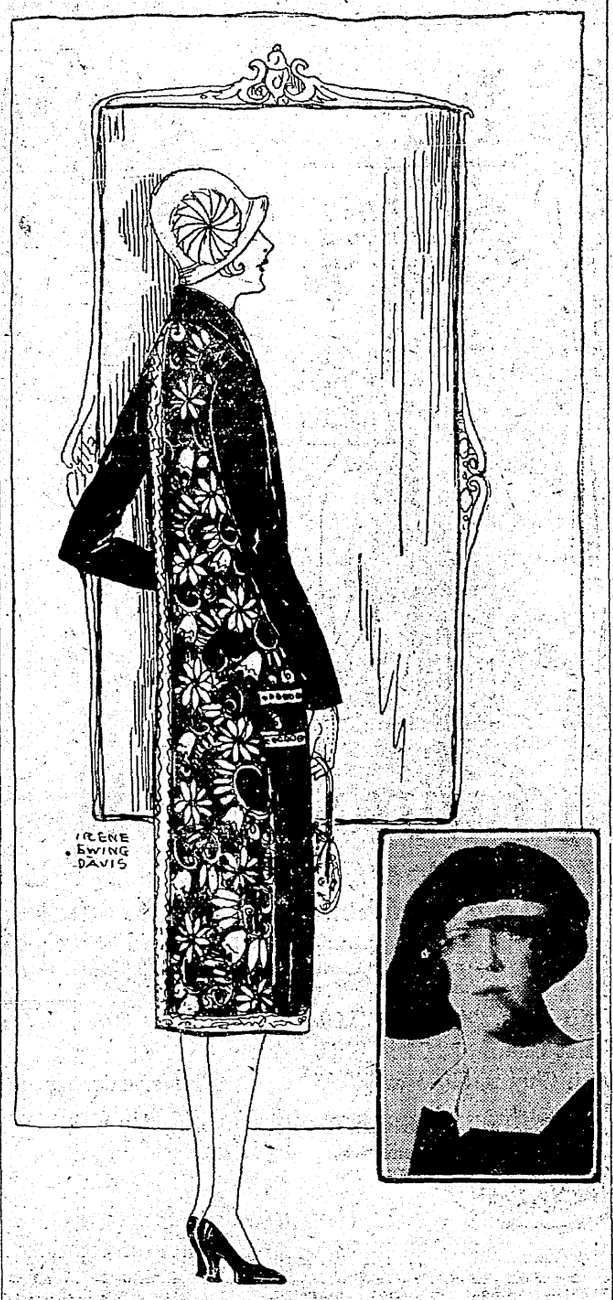
Of Interest to Women

GOWNS WORN BY SEATTLE SMART SET

As Sketched by Irene.



A BLACK COAT covered with a gorgeous embroidery of Persian coloring and design was worn by Miss Mary Bliss Maxwell at a recent luncheon at The Olympic. It was exceedingly slim and straight of line, a model of great distinction, with which she wore a small hat of pale jade green felt and grosgrain ribbon, accenting one of the predominating colors of the embroidery.

Mrs. Ida Pursell Hostess at Affair For Mrs. Sheahan

One of the principal luncheons at The Olympic Monday was Mrs. Ida Pursell's for Mrs. James A. Sheahan who is leaving in October for California.

Mrs. Pursell's guests included Mrs. Stephen B. Gibbs, Mrs. Frederick C. Johnstone, Mrs. Alfred Battle, Mrs. Gerald Frink, Mrs. John C. McMillan and Mrs. John Campbell.

The luncheons yesterday, though they were many in number, were for the most part little groups of three and four.

Others who had guests with them were Mrs. T. A. Fransioli, Mrs. John D. Farrell and Mrs. Tom Mesdag, who entertained Mrs. Joseph Greenlees, Mrs. Joseph Black, Mrs. Gilbert LeBaron Duffy and Mrs. Edward Duffy; Mrs. Donald A. Nicholson, Mrs. M. J. Connell, Mrs. Harold Preston, Mrs. Perry Truax, Mrs. Ernst L. Skeel, Mrs. C. D. Davidson, Mrs. William Pigott and Mrs. Herbert Schoenfeld.

HOROSCOPE

(Copyright, 1925, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Wednesday, September 30, 1925.

FAVORABLE aspects appear to rule today, according to astrology. Jupiter and Venus dominate in benefic sway.

This should be an auspicious wedding day, making for prosperity as well as lasting love.

Women should push all their financial affairs while this planetary government prevails. It is supposed to be a favorable time for consulting lawyers, but not for divorce.

Bankers, judges and college professors should make the most of this day's opportunities, which promise many benefits.

Length of life will be greatly increased within the decade, owing to a national interest in health and in radical scientific methods of retaining youth, it is prognosticated.

Questions relating to methods of education will be widely discussed in the coming months when there may be severe criticism of certain institutions.

Difficulties for the Japanese government are to arise from an unexpected quarter, it is foretold.

Persons whose birthdate it is have a most encouraging outlook for the next year. They should be careful to avoid accident, however.

Children born on this day are likely to have keen minds and strong bodies. They probably will be lucky all through life, especially in financial matters.

THE HOUSEHOLD

By LYDIA DE BARON WALKER

Faith As an Aid to Homemaking.

FAITH is the corner-stone of a home just as it is the firm foundation on which business is carried on. There could be little business done if buyers did not have faith that those who sell will deliver goods as ordered; and those who sell must have faith that the goods will be paid for. Faith is the underlying principle of charge accounts, and, in fact, of the whole framework of business. Some persons prove unfaithful and their structures fall, but this does not upset the foundation nor disturb the principle. It only proves that some persons are not faithful. They are not trustworthy. Faith and trust go hand in hand.

And so it is found in home-making. It takes a good bit of faith for a housewife to become a real homemaker. But without this staunch element, housework becomes drudgery, and the routine tiresome. It is entirely lacking in delight. In the art of establishing and keeping up a true home, whether it is a big establishment where money is lavishly spent, or a little farmhouse where frugality must be exercised, faith is essential.

In the first place the housewife must have faith in her ability to run the house, as well as faith in the ability of the wage-earner to furnish sufficient means to supply the necessary money. She must have faith in her ability to make ends meet, and perhaps lap over so that there is a surplus for saving. She must have faith in her ability to fix up the dwelling or the rooms of an apartment so that they will be attractive, cozy and homelike; faith in her children, if she is so fortunate as to have them; a faith in her ability to create a happy home for them and for the man of the house, so that all may find contentment under her home-making.

When we sum up even these few things we begin to appreciate the vast extent of faith, and to know it as a power not to be gainsaid, or doubted. It is real, just as love is real and kindness is real, and happiness is real. To analyze any of them does not bring them closer, nor satisfy. Faith, like these other things, enters into lives that welcome it, and which will use it. It has to be used to increase. It inspires action and works wonders.

Faith That Beautifies.

Let us imagine a home that is inartistic, and in which furniture is not pleasing and wall paper gaudy. Without faith a home-maker feels nothing can be done but endure it, and meanwhile it gets on her nerves, and then this nervousness reacts on the family. An unhappy atmosphere results. But if the woman has faith that she can make things more attractive, she will succeed. Her ingenuity will get to work. Her interest will be stimulated and she will enjoy seeing what she can do. She will study her rooms. Some walls are kalsomined to soft tones, some can be treated with a toned varnish that will mellow the paper. The cost is trifling and the work something she can do. Furniture can be scraped and refinished or painted, whichever is most appropriate. Slip covers can be made for worn upholstered pieces, and the first thing she knows her rooms will be artistic and charming, for one improvement will lead to another. Her taste will improve. Books and magazines will be read that suggest ideas and strangely things will turn up to aid her—if she has faith.

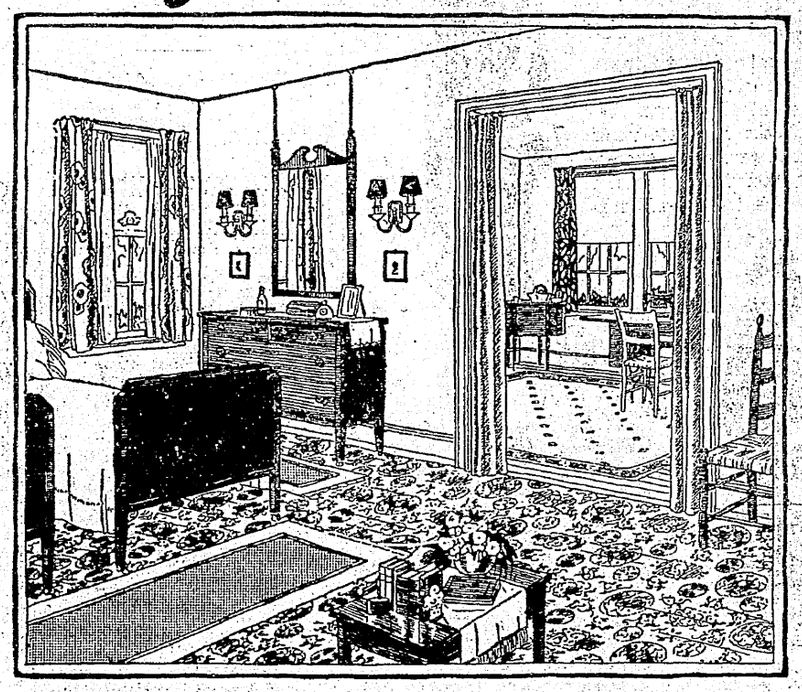
Wouldn't you love a cheery bedroom like this!



LIKE a fresh Spring morning the bright walls radiate sunshine, and the floor, with its flower-patterned Blabon's Linoleum, gives a blithe "Good Morning" greeting!

How "bed-roomy" this gay little printed design, 5258, in blended blue and taupe does seem! And what a sensible floor for a bedroom is Blabon's Linoleum! It is smooth, springy and comfortable to walk upon. It has the warmth of a double floor. Fabric scatter rugs go so well with it!

And so easy to keep clean! You will be surprised how much easier housework is, when you have Blabon floors upstairs and down. Just a going over with a damp cloth keeps them clean and bright.

When you consider the long service you get from a Blabon floor of genuine linoleum you realize how economical it is.

Any good home-furnishing or department store can show you Blabon's Linoleum. If your dealer hasn't it write us his name, and we'll see that you are supplied. Our illustrated booklet, "The Floor for the Modern Home", sent free upon request.

Mrs. Joseph Rivett, Marquette, Mich., says: "Six or eight months ago I purchased a 9½x10 Blabon Linoleum Rug and I am writing to tell you how pleased I am about it. It has had hard usage and has no trace of wear. I can't praise your rugs enough. Everyone that sees mine likes it, and different parties want one like it."

Hazel H. Adler, author of books on interior decoration, gives valuable suggestions on harmonizing furniture and draperies with walls and floors, in our 36-page, illustrated book, "Planning the Color Schemes for Your Home." Sent anywhere in the United States upon receipt of 20 cts.
