RICH, RED BLOOD FOR PERFECT HEALTH

Cleanse the Blood With P. P. P. and Enjoy Better Health During the Entire Year.

Your Druggist Will Gladly Refund Your Money If You Are Not Delighted With P. P. P. After Using the First Bottle.

Don't drag through the summer in a run-down condition and without vim and vigor. Cleanse your blood now of the accumulated impurities and bring to yourself the joy of splendid health, good appetite firm flesh and muscle and the keen enjoyment of feeling fine. There are millions today whose greatest need is pure, rich, red blood. They need the kind of blood that nourishes the system instead of the weak, watery kind of blood that carries disease and suffering to all parts of the body. Your blood is too important to neglect. It means either that you are healthy or unhealthy because you are no healthier than your blood. When the blood is free from impurities it is bound to bring you health again.

Start today taking the great blood cleanser and tonic, P. P. P. You can soon begin noticing results, you will feel better, and look better; your appetite will be good and you will be able to eat what you please without suffering from indigestion and other stomach troubles. Remember, if you are not delighted with P. P. P. after taking the first bottle your druggist will refund your money, so you risk nothing.—Adv.

Women to attract must Radiate Health!

BEAUTY is the magnet which draws all eyes—art back of beauty—Health—working silently. Red blood tingling through the veins;—the glow of youth in the cheeks;—the spring of eagerness, of vim, of vitality in the walk;—the ever graceful air, unrestrained by care or worry.—All the charms of beauty. All the works of health.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps—wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness that is not theirs.

But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that beauty. Good looks is the barometer of one's condition. Good health radiates beauty. S. S. S. purifies the blood—creates new red blood cells—rids the system of impurities which make beauty and attractiveness impossible. As women to attract must radiate health so must they keep their systems free from impurities and their red blood cells over increasing. S. S. S. does both.

S. S. S., since 1826, has been ridding the system of impurities—pimples, blackheads, boils, eczema and rheumatism—building red blood cells—aiding women to be attractive by radiating health. S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and barks, scientifically prepared and proportioned. All good drug stores carry S. S. S. It is more economical to purchase the large size bottle.

MRS. G. W. HALL SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio.—"Indeed, your medicine is all you say it is! I had very severe troubles such as women often have, and could do no heavy work. I was sick for several years, and from reading your ads. I finally decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now doing my own washing, which I haven't done for several years, and can walk long distances without those dragging pains and weak feelings. The Vegetable Compound is fine, and I never forget to say a good word for it to other women when they say they need something."—Mrs. G. W. HALL, 639 Hazel Avenue, Lima, Ohio.

There are many women who find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Hall's experience is but one of many.

MUCH ACTIVITY IN REAL ESTATE DEALS

RECORD VOLUME THIS WEEK

First Eight Months of 1923 Ahead of Any Others; Six Transfers Monday

Six real estate deals recorded Monday in the office of Clerk W. Roger Watkins of the circuit court involved considerations totaling $69,500. Deeds for an exceptionally large number of realty transfers were filed for record in the clerk's office Monday, and the amounts involved ran higher than within several weeks, indicating that the so-called dull season in the realty market of Tampa and Hillsborough county is a thing of the past for the current year at least.

Records show that during no like period in any previous year in the history of Hillsborough county have more real estate transfers, involving more money, been recorded in the office of the clerk of the circuit court than during the first eight months of 1923.

The largest transfer recorded Monday was for a consideration of $15,500. Winifred Davis, widow of Charles H. Davis, sold to E. Laurence Scott the north 660 feet of government lot 2, in section 8, township 30, south, range 18 east. The property is located immediately north of Port Tampa, bordering on the waterfront of Old Tampa bay.

W. H. Beckwith and C. W. Greene sold to Paul D. Cochran and Ormand G. Sexton, jr., lots 1, 2 and 3 in block 21 of Drew's addition to Tampa. The property is 100 by 200 feet, located on Madison street, between Governor and Brush streets. Consideration was $13,500.

Kate V. Jackson sold to Temple Terraces, Inc., the west half of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 20, township 28, south, range 19 east. The property is located in the vicinity of Temple Terraces, and contains approximately twenty acres. Consideration was $12,000.

Segundo Gonzalez sold to Manuel Garcia, as trustee for Perfecto Garcia, his brother, lots 8, 9 and 10 of block 6, Belvedere Place subdivision, located at Nebraska and Twenty-sixth avenues. The property is 102 by 136 feet. Consideration was $10,500.

George E. Lewis sold to E. H. Robson land in the Silva City subdivision. Consideration was $10,000.

George N. Lewis sold to E. H. Robson the north fifty feet of lot 2, block 3 of the Alice Kelly subdivision. The property is located on South Willow avenue, near Platt street. Consideration was $8,000.

Garbled Radio Said To Be Cause of Wreck of Warship

loomed up a welcome rescuer through the fog.

For those who reached the shore during the night, the dark, cold hours in scant, wet clothing were almost as trying as for their squadron mates still aboard the wrecks.

Camp Fires Lit

Later, railroad ties were gathered and camp fires were lit. Doctors came from Lompoc to attend the five score injured, who were bruised and battered by the pounding surf. A special train with doctors, nurses and food started for the refugee camp from San Luis Obispo, before 2 o'clock in the morning, and Santa Barbara, too, sent her quota of medical aid to the castaways. Thirteen of the more seriously injured survivors were rushed to a Santa Barbara hospital.

Two life rafts put off from the stranded flotilla and headed blindly for supposed safety through the black fog. One, with five men aboard, was picked up at Arlight, a naval wireless station about three miles south of the wreck, this morning. Three men still are missing.

Oil Aids Death

Oil from the overflowing tanks of the wrecks coated the sea and added to the chances of death for the men of the fleet. More fortunate comrades who succeeded in gaining the shore or a foothold on adjacent rocks told of their shipmates slipping from their grasp as they endeavored to drag them to safety.

Seaman Pearson of the Delphy went to his death a victim of the oil. Blinded by the murky coating on the sea and crazed by the pain of his injuries, he resisted efforts of his mates others on the rocks.

The body of Fireman's Mate Conroy of Oklahoma was the first recovered last night. The dead sailor was the first to find a place on the rescue train. As approximately 600 of his surviving mates lined up, uncovered, beside the tracks, the body was placed aboard for transfer to Santa Barbara.

to rig a britches buoy to carry him to safety. Then the vessel began to break up, and his comrades were forced to lash him to a mast as a last resort, but as the remainder of the crew went over the side, the craft cracked in two and Pearson went down with his ship.

The fog, treacherous currents and the air full of confused radio, tied the hands of the remainder of the destroyer squadron and prevented them from going to the aid of the stricken seven.

Unable to Steer Right

List of Dead and Missing

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Sept. 10.—A list of dead and missing in the wreck of seven destroyers was compiled here Monday. It is lacking in initials and other details because the official records were on the Delphy, which sank. The list follows:

Dead: R. A. Conroy, fireman on the Delphy.

Missing:

Kirby, seaman, second class.
Everett Grady, fireman, second class.
Vanschaink, fireman, third class.
Taylor, engine room, second class.
Overschimer, fireman, third class.
Henry T. Kirk, fireman, third class.
Joseph Silmak, fireman, third class.
Dun, second class.
Seakerzowski, fireman, second class.
Wade H. Morrison, fireman, third class.
John Young, fireman, second class.
C. F. Rogers, fireman, third class.
Pearson or Pierson, seaman, first class.
Dalda, cabin steward.
Enrique Torres, ward room steward.
Buchanan, chief pharmacists's mate.
Harrison, seaman.
Reddach, radio man, first class.
Salzar, coxswain.
Martin, seaman, first class.

All the men are from the Young except the last three, twho are from the Delphy. Those three possibly were saved, as they left the wreck on a life raft. The raft has not been found. All others are thought to be in the hull of the Young.

Injured, in hospitals here, include: Gilbert Bauschman, Brooklyn, N. Y., cut and bruised, suffering from oil in throat and lungs.

Arthur Lund, Delphy, first class seaman, Jamestown, N. Y., bruises and abrasions.

Gerald Tyler, Delphy, Charleston, W. Va., exposure.

All will recover.

Lieutenant Allan P. Mullinua, Delphy, San Diego, who was treated at the hospital, later went to his home.

The Woman Whose Husband Is Tired of Her—The Man Who Tries in Vain to Please His Wife—An Unkissed Fiancee

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am in trouble and do not know what to do, and so come to you for advice. I have been a good wife to my husband, helping him in every way, even to working in the fields, for we are country people. We have eight children, the youngest five years old. My husband has been mistreating me cruelly ever since my second child was a baby. Now he tells me that he is tired of me and that he doesn't love me any more, and that he wants to be quit of me.

BUT he loves his children and wants to stay with them, and so he proposes that we shall go on living together in this house as we are doing, but that I shall regard him as a boarder instead of a husband.

I am willing to do anything that will make him happy, but do you think this is right?

A HEART-BROKEN WIFE.

ANSWER:

It seems to me this is a very good way out of a bad situation and that a wife who has a disagreeable husband should be glad enough to change him off for a boarder, because boarders have to show their landladies more courtesy than a mere husband does.

BOARDERS have no authority over their landladies and cannot dictate to them about what they do. Boarders are compelled to pay good hard money for having their food prepared for them and their rooms kept in order and their clothes washed and mended and their comfort looked after. Also boarders frequently fall in love with their landladies, and the mere fact that you have ceased to regard your husband as a husband and have quit making any wifely claims upon him will do more than anything else to revive his interest in you.

Consider also, oh Broken-Hearted Wife, how much better such an arrangement is for your children than divorce would be. In this way you keep the family together. You can assure them of a support and of an education that you could not give them if you were separated from your husband and had to earn their living. And you do not deprive them of a father's influence and authority, and that means the salvation of the children.

It is a heart-breaking thing to any woman for her husband to cease to love her, but when that tragedy occurs she is fortunate if she can save even the semblance of her home and keep her children with her.

IT IS the children who have to be considered in such cases, and, thank God, there are women brave enough to accept any sacrifice for the sake of the helpless little ones they brought into the world.

DEAR MISS DIX—I want to tell you the plain truth and want your best advice. When my wife and I got married I had a good home, and I have worked hard ever since, and used economy, and have had good luck and have accumulated all of this world's goods that I need. Our children have all grown up, and we have nothing to trouble us in our old days except that we can't agree on anything.

MY WIFE is selfish and scornful, and she nags me all the time. Everything I do is wrong. I want to treat everybody right, but I am human and I want them to treat me the same way.

How can I make my wife quit nagging and make her treat me right? A WORRIED OLD HUSBAND.

ANSWER:

Do you know what I would do if I were in your case, Mr. Man? I would go off on a nice long trip, and I would leave my wife behind me, and I would fix it so that she would be good and lonesome while I was gone.

You know, after we live with people a long time they often get on our nerves, particularly if they have disagreeable habits. And we get so that everything they do and say "riles" us. This is particularly the case with husbands and wives who live so close together that they don't get any perspective on each other's virtues, and the only remedy is to separate for a while.

IF YOU will go off traveling for a few months you will come to see that a lot of your wife's nagging is just the result of her love for you and of her foolish anxiety about you, and you will begin to remember what a good cook she is, and how comfortable she has made you, and you will sort of strike a balance in your mind, in which you will see that the disagreeable traits in your wife's character are more than offset by the better ones. We have to pay a price for all we get, you know, even for home life.

And on her part if she's left with nobody to nag and nobody to fuss at, she will begin to realize how wrong and foolish she has been to throw away the peace and happiness she might have had and risk losing her husband's love for the sake of indulging in a bad habit. Why, I once knew a woman who, after quarreling with her husband for twenty years over his old pipe, a week after he had gone to Europe shed tears of remorse over the selfsame pipe and put it up on the parlor mantel!

AND you can keep your wife on her good behavior by threatening to go off on another trip if she doesn't keep the peace.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am engaged to be married to a girl who refuses to let me kiss her although the marriage is to take place in about four months. Do you think there is any harm in my kissing her under the circumstances? H. C. M.

ANSWER:

IT SEEMS to me the young lady is a trifle prudish, but I should think that a man would be tickled half to death and feel that he was marrying the Snow Maiden of the fairy tale, if he got an unkissed bride in these days when the average young woman has so little of that admirable quality that we used to call modesty.

Wholehearted Response By Tampans to Japanese

Quota of $4,000 Needed Is Not Yet Half Raised. However, Indications are That Amount Will Be Subscribed This Week; Poor, as Well as Rich, are Responding to Appeal.

Wholehearted response to the appeal of the Tampa Red Cross Society in behalf of the stricken people of Japan is being made by all classes of the city's population and it is hoped that the quota of $4,000 will be raised this week.

Nearly $200 was raised Sunday and Monday, boosting the total thus far received to $1,745.12.

Two contributions received in the last few days are typical of a great number which are being offered at the office of the Red Cross in the city hall.

The widow of a soldier who was killed in the World War and who receives a pension of only $25 from the government, walked into the Red Cross headquarters and gave $5 out of her slender allowance, saying that her dead husband had been indebted more to the Red Cross than to any other organization and that she would never be deaf to its appeals.

A laborer walked to the eighth floor of the city hall Saturday night to give $3 to the fund. He said he supposed he could spare that much to people who needed it more than he did.

A telegram was received Monday morning from Joseph C. Logan of Atlanta, manager of the southern division of the Red Cross, saying that $70,000 had been collected of the South's quota of $250,000 and urging all chapters to make the greatest effort to complete the fund to be raised in this section. Mr. Logan's telegram stated that some of the chapters had exceeded and even doubled their quotas, but that it was necessary to continue the appeal in the hope that the required amount would be obtained this week.

Those in charge of the local branch of the Red Cross are stressing the fact that this is an emergency and that the present campaign for funds is not a "drive," but a personal appeal to all members of the Tampa chapter through the press to aid the stricken Japanese. No canvass has been made but members of the society are urged to contribute as soon as possible to expedite the work of relief which has already been started.

A circular letter sent out from Southern headquarters of the Red Cross to all chapters reads in part as follows:

"Responsibility for this great task is placed squarely upon our Red Cross chapters by the president of the United States; and we should accept courageously this opportunity to prove once again that the 'Greatest Mother in the World' is always at the service of those who suffer."

A meeting of the Florida executive board of the Red Cross was held Monday in Jacksonville when plans were laid to push the campaign to a successful end.

Mayor Urges Business Men and Women Avail Selves of Franchise

Declaring his belief that Tampa's business and professional men and women are not showing enough interest in the municipal primary to be held Oct. 2, Mayor Charles H. Brown Monday urged this class of citizens to avail themselves of the franchise by registering at once.

"Many people are discussing the election," he said, "but the real indication of their interest is shown when they register. Ample provision has been made to take care of all who want to participate in the primary and it is the duty of good citizens to get their names on the poll books."

There was no abatement in the number of prospective voters who visited the office of City Registrar W. E. Duncan Monday, and the eight clerks were kept busy. Many women were among those seeking the privilege of voting.

PETTEWAY INSTRUCTOR "Y" SPEAKING SCHOOL

FOURTH SESSION FOR SIXTEEN WEEKS

Secretary Turner Given Five $10 Gold Pieces As Appreciation of Work

Outlining of general plans for the fourth session of the public speaking school of the Tampa Y. M. C. A., announcement that Judge W. Raleigh Petteway had been secured as instructor for the school, and presentation by members of the organization of a handsome gift in the form of five $10 gold pieces to A. Fred Turner, executive secretary of the "Y," as an expression of appreciation for his valuable aid in connection with the school, were the high lights of a luncheon gathering of the alumni association of the public speaking course, held at the "Y" building Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

W. J. Bivens, president of the alumni association, was in charge of the affair. C. A. Faircloth, chairman of the committee on arrangement for the following term of the school, officially made the announcement that Judge Petteway had consented to assume the work as instructor in the public speaking school, succeeding Prof. D. M. Cook, whose declination to longer serve in that capacity was made necessary by recent business changes. Mr. Faircloth, in an appropriate speech, made presentation of the gift of $60 in gold to Mr. Turner, voicing appreciation on behalf of all members of the alumni association of the executive secretary's untiring and splendid efforts in aiding to make the public speaking school a remarkable success. In joking vein, Mr. Faircloth stated that the association had learned that the secretary had a book and was able to produce a few handkerchiefs, and in lieu of presenting him with an automobile, which they were quite aware he was unable to keep by reason of his limited salary, it had been concluded that the gift of gold was most appropriate.

"I have already been amply rewarded for anything I may have done for the school of public speaking, through the expressions of friendship that have come to me from this fine body of business and professional men," asserted Mr. Turner in responding. "As much as I appreciate the gift of these gold coins, I do not treasure them nearly so much as I do the confidence and esteem of the men who are gathered here."

E. D. Langley, education secretary of the Y. M. C. A., outlined plans for the public speaking school, the fourth session of which opens on the evening of Sept. 24, continuing for sixteen weeks, meeting Monday night of each week. A number of enrollments have already been received for the approaching term. Graduates of the school now number above one hundred. The luncheon Monday evening was prepared under the direction of Mrs. M. L. Wetherington, matron of the Y. M. C. A., assisted by Mrs. E. D. Langley.

To Complete Work On Hillsborough Bridge Sept. 12

(Special to The Tribune)

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, Sept. 10—The finishing concrete work on the new bridge over the Hillsborough river at this place is expected to be completed Wednesday, Sept. 12, and shortly after that it is expected that that part of the National Highway between here and Zephyrhills can be opened for regular travel, although the surfacing of the road from the bridge to the Hillsborough county line has not been completed.

However, the eight inch limestone base for the pavement makes a good road as it is, as the stone has been rolled down with a heavy roller and is well bound together by the natural cementing qualities of the lime. The workmen are now pouring the concrete for the guard walls at the sides of the bridge.

According to scheedule this work will be completed some time Wednesday, and the contractor has announced that the bridge and road may be opened for travel immediately thereafter, as the proper setting of the concrete in the guard walls will not be affected by such use. E. S. Oldham of the merchandising firm of Oldham & Son has given an invitation to the bridge and road workmen to present themselves at the store upon the completion of the work and have a cold drink and a smoke "on him;" so it is expected that there will be something of a celebration at the store some time Wednesday.

It is rumored that the county commissioners of Pasco county may be present to see the bridge work completed and the road opened, as it is generally realized that the opening of this road means a great deal to the development and prosperity of Pasco county. Its opening will be hailed with joy by traveling salesmen and autoists generally who, for several months, have had to negotiate detours that were nearly impassable much of the time, and at times impassable because of high water in the river and soft trails cut to pieces by constant travel during rainy weather.

Swedish Motorship Loads Large Cargo Of Phosphate Here

Carrying an unusually large cargo of phosphate from Tampa, the Swedish motorship Luossa will sail from the Seaboard elevator today, direct for Norresunby, Denmark. The vessel is to load 7,250 tons, which is expected to give a draft of twenty-four feet ten inches. This is not quite a full cargo but the depth of water at the Danish port will not permit deeper draft.

The Luossa is a motor vessel of very economical operation, being able to make nine and a half knots regularly on ten tons of fuel per day. The Philip Shore Co. is the local agent. Other motorships of the same line are expected here in the next few months. The Luossa is owned by the Trafikaktiebolaget Grangesberg-Oxelosund, Stockholm, Sweden.

COLLINS GIVEN FIVE YEARS FOR KILLING

SENTENCE DATES FROM DEATH OF WEEKS

Attorneys File Notice of Appeal and Collins Is Released on $1,500 Bond

Denying motion for a new trial filed by counsel for the defense, Judge L. L. Parks Monday afternoon sentenced Calvin G. Collins, convicted of manslaughter in circuit court on Sept. 1 in connection with the slaying on last May 10 of Clarence Weeks, a railway brakeman, to serve five years in the state prison.

Sentence as imposed by Judge Parks included the time that Collins, the eighteen-year-old defendant, has been confined in the county jail since the date when Weeks was shot to death while seated in an automobile on Zack street, near the union station, stipulating confinement in the state prison until May 10, 1928.

The hearing on motion for a new trial continued practically through Monday opening in Judge Parks' office in the court house at 10 o'clock Monday morning. Parents of Collins, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Collins, sr., and the child wife of the defendant, over whose association and alleged intimacy with Weeks, the killing is said to have resulted, occupied seats near the defendant throughout the hearing.

Various grounds set out by the defense counsel, Attorneys Hunn C. Macfarlane and Howard P. Macfarlane, as a basis for new trial, were argued forcefully and at length by these attorneys, and were as strongly opposed by State's Attorney C. B. Parkhill who conducted the prosecution in the Collins case.

Judge Parks stated in denying motion for new trial that he had felt considerable sympathy for the youthful defendant during the trial, and that by reason of his immature age and in consideration of all circumstances surrounding the case he felt inclined to make the sentence as light as he could consistently impose.

Attorneys Macfarlane immediately gave notice of appeal to the state supreme court and Judge Parks fixed supercedeas bond at $1,500, pending the appeal. Collins was released from the county jail early Monday night upon issuance of an order of the court in acceptance of a bond approved by Clerk W. Roger Watkins of the circuit court. Bondsmen were awaiting the decision of Judge Parks in connection with the new trial motion to place the required bond, and the procedure of arranging the bond and securing its approval by the court required only a short time.

A Child's Happiness

Depends a great deal on his freedom from physical ailments. He may have headaches, gets nauseated from reading or is irritable. Many times these little ailments are nothing more than the result of defective eyesight. You can give him back his happiness by having his eyes examined.

Two Women Tell of Great Destruction Done by Earthquake

with all the occupants sitting dead in their natural attitudes. They had been electrocuted. Some had smiles on their faces and one woman held a coin in her outstretched hand. She apparently was killed while tendering her fare to the conductor.

Korean Looters Busy

"In one village we found all the Japanese terrorized with fear. Korean looters were stealing everything in sight and killing those who resisted them with large knives attached to the ends of bamboo poles. We saw many victims of these murderers lying along the road with their heads chopped off. The house in which we stopped for a time at this village was entered by these Korean marauders who held huge weapons over our heads. We thought our time had come. Hugging my baby niece to my breast, I kissed her good bye. But the marauders only mumbled a few words and stalked out. A little later we resumed our journey to Yokohama. We reached the ruined city that evening and made our way to the waterfront. We saw the Empress of Austria in the distance. The nearest the sampan could approach to the liner was under the bridge and we got a spill into the water in trying to get aboard. The fact that Miss Coutts is a fine swimmer saved us."
