

URGENT DEFICIENCY BILL

Passed the House With One Important Amendment.

MEASURE CARRIES OVER $1,000,000.

Work of the Census Bureau to Be Continued Until March 4, 1895.—Consideration of the Postoffice Bill Resumed. Thirty Thousand Dollars Set Aside For the Establishment of Star Routes.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Upon convening Thursday the house immediately went into committee of the whole and after some good natured banter by Mr. Reed on the subject of the "billion dollar congress," the urgent deficiency bill was taken up. The bill, which carries something over $1,000,000, was passed with one important amendment providing for the continuation of the census bureau until March 4, 1895, and providing for the publication in condensed volume of 250 pages of an abstract of all data procured by the census.

After the deficiency bill was disposed of the consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill was resumed. Only one amendment was adopted—setting aside $30,000 for the establishment of star routes to meet postoffice. The main fight will come on the amendment to abolish the $200,000 subsidy for the fast southern mail trains running between Springfield, Mass., via New York and Washington, to Atlanta and New Orleans.

Senate Proceedings.—WASHINGTON, April 6.—In the senate Thursday Mr. Hill gave notice that at 2 o'clock next Monday he would submit a few remarks on the pending tariff bill.

At the request of Senator Hansbrough (N. D.) the senate took up the bill appropriating $1,000,000 for the destruction of the Russian thistle. Senator Mills (Tex.) spoke in opposition to it, basing his objection upon the prevailing tendency towards paternalism in the government. He was opposed to the general government exercising functions that of right belonged to the state.

Mr. Kyle (Pop., S. D.) proposed an amendment providing that the sum appropriated should be divided pro rata among the states where the thistle is found, according to the estimated cost of exterminating it, and that if any part of the appropriation should remain unexpended after the destruction, it should be divided pro rata among the states interested for the purpose of preventing its return.

At 3 o'clock the tariff bill was laid before the senate as unfinished business, and the Russian thistle bill went over without action.

On motion the senate went into executive session after which an adjournment was promptly taken.

Carlisle's Decision Was Final.—WASHINGTON, April 6.—Mr. John B. Thatcher, president of the world's fair committee of awards, and Representative Strauss of New York had an interview with Secretary Carlisle Thursday in the course of which they discussed the issue of the world's fair medal according to the original design.

Mr. Strauss is a member of a large mercantile firm, who has been awarded a great number of these medals and he wants to get them. Secretary Carlisle informed the visitors that the design has been rejected finally, so far as he is concerned and referred them to the senate quadro-centennial committee for relief.

Against the Sewing System.—WASHINGTON, April 6.—Senator Kyle has introduced a bill to prevent the manufacture of clothing in unhealthy places. It is directed against the sweating system. It prohibits the sale of clothing in any place made in another in an unhealthy room or in rooms used for sleeping or eating, and requires a tag to be placed upon all clothing shipped out of a state, giving the street and number of the house in which it was made.

REFUSED THE REQUISITION.—Dr. Hudson Expatriated From the Charge of Stealing a Watch.—LANSING, April 6.—Governor Rich gave Dr. Sutton Hudson, a Grand Rapids dentist, a hearing on a requisition issued by Governor McKinley for his arrest on a charge of larceny. Hudson was duly indicted in Ohio, and J. W. Crawford alleging that in June, 1892, he dropped a valuable gold watch while attending the Cleveland races; that Hudson saw him drop the watch, and picked it up, making no effort to return it. Fred A. Maynard of Grand Rapids and E. S. Parks, a Cleveland attorney, appeared for Hudson, while Detective Reeves of Cleveland represented the state of Ohio.

There was nothing in the papers to show that Crawford ever owned the watch, and nothing but the affidavit of one, Kaufman, who, after holding his peace for nearly two years, swore that Hudson told him that he knew who owned the article. As the law of Ohio does not make it necessary for a person finding valuable property in that state to make any effort to find the rightful owner, there was grave doubt that any crime had been committed.

Governor Rich gave Hudson the benefit of the doubt, and refused to honor Governor McKinley's requisition.

BEHIND SEA AFFAIRS.—Appointments expressed by I. Abille Men interested in the matter.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Some disappointment has been expressed by public men interested in seeing the Bering sea arbitration fairly executed, because of the inclusion in the British bill of a clause exempting from its operations vessels that may have cleared for the seal waters before the promulgation of the law. It has been asserted that more than 50 sealing vessels have already cleared and beyond doubt the entire fleet, proceeding by the hulk conveyed, will get away from port before the British law is duly proclaimed, in expectation of taking full cargoes of skins before they can be overtaken and served with notice to refrain from hunting.

Of course, if this was permitted, the results of the arbitration would be nullified for this season. The slaughter of seals would be immense and permanently disastrous, and the state of affairs would be even worse than it was last year, when, even under the restraining influences of the modus vivendi, the sealing vessels captured about 100,000 skins. But the Canadian sealers are likely to be sadly mistaken if they proceed upon the theory that the British will govern the actions of our cruisers.

Of course it will be the guide for the British warships, but the failure of the British act to fully meet the spirit of the arbitration will not prevent the United States from carrying that agreement out according to the provisions of our own act, and the Canadian sealing craft caught in forbidden waters by American cruisers will be seized, notice or no notice.

URGENT ANNEXATION.—A Resident of Samoa Favors British Control of the Samoan Islands.

LONDON, April 6.—Sir Charles Dilke presided at a meeting of the members of the Colonial party of the house of commons. Among those present was the Hon. Hugh Amir Nelson, prime minister of Queensland. He made a speech dealing with the question of a Pacific cable, arguing that nothing would bind closer together the empire than a cable to Australia. He also maintained that the mail route to Australia by way of Canada ought to be given imperial support.

A long letter was read from a gentleman who for 50 years has been a resident of Samoa. The writer declared that the triple control of the Samoan islands had failed, and he urged the annexation of the group to Great Britain.

After debating the question the meeting resolved, that in view of the importance of British interests in Samoa, the imperial government should, at an early moment consider the serious situation.

National Bank Robbed.—ELKHART, Kan., April 6.—It has just been learned that the National Exchange bank of this city was robbed a day or two ago of $15,000, but the officers succeeded in recovering it in the hope of catching the robbers. They failed in the latter effort and the robbery became known. There was no force used in the vault and the robber is supposed to have known the combination. The directors have made good the deficit and offered a reward of $4,000 for the thief or thieves and return of the money.
